

Connections and Collaboration Workshop

A community thrives when locals connect and collaborate to realise the potential of their place. Community-led development enables people to find, make and maintain relationships across diverse groups and sectors. Effective community engagement is more than consultation. It requires the vital elements of trust, observation, analysis and an ability to co-create vision and plan for change.

This workshop will help you:

- Assess your community relationships
- Identify new allies, connections and influencers
- Apply tools to build and sustain stakeholder relationships
- Establish steps to map and tap into the strengths of your wider community
- Expand your capacity to hold and maintain diverse relationships

This workshop is facilitated by Kindra Douglas.

When: Tuesday 25th June 2019, 9.30am until 4pm

Where: Council Chambers, Whakatāne District Council, Commerce Street

Cost:

$69 for non-profits and community groups

$220 for local/central government, funders, private enterprise

Lunch is provided.
