

Working Together in Community-led Change

Mā whero, mā pango ka oti te mahi
With red and black the work will be completed.

A community thrives when locals connect and collaborate to realise the potential of their place. Partnering enables us to unlock resources, create new ideas, leverage our strengths, and creatively mobilise to tackle both complex challenges and opportunities.

WHEN: Wednesday November 16th, 9:30am – 4pm

WHERE: The Stevenson Room, Franklin: The Centre, 12 Massey Ave, Pukekohe

COST: $69 plus GST for community organisations $195 plus GST for central/local government, private sector and funders

Franklin Local Board is covering this cost for those who work in the Board area

A light lunch will be provided

“I found this workshop helpful, revealing, encouraging and uplifting”

This workshop will help you:

- Expand your capacity to hold and maintain diverse relationships
- Strengthen your partnering approach
- Prioritise your time and relationship investment
- Apply tools to build trust and sustain stakeholder relationships
- Establish steps to map and tap into the strengths of your wider community
- Identify new allies, connections and strategies for ‘joining up’

This workshop is facilitated by:

Kindra
Douglas

Kindra is driven by seeing movement in individuals, groups and communities to generate change.

With a background in working for affordable housing, trained as both a teacher and a counsellor, founding chair of Nelson Tasman Housing Trust in 2004, and founding Director of the Victory Community Centre in 2007, she is a person who's not afraid to look through a different lens to bring people together.

Kindra offers her Pathways to Power personal development course to women in Nelson, is an active Trustee on Community Action Nelson where they advance perception changes in different ways to be housed, and how more affordable housing can be created.

With a full and rich professional career in collaborating and connecting people, Kindra is always looking for ways to connect communities and help them find ways to look after their people.
