

Micro-credential in Community-led Development facilitation: 2023

Is the micro credential for me?

If you already work in community development, and you'd like a little qualification to recognise and deepen your work – the answer is YES!

You need to be ready to reflect deeply into your practice, while supported by facilitators and the peer group who are working towards this micro credential at the same time as you.

I've attended the Information Session and want to enrol – what happens next?

- Register online. As part of your registration, you will be invoiced for the cost ($400 +GST) and asked to choose a slot for your first 1:1 meeting with one of the facilitators.
- Decide on your case study before your first 1:1
- Talk to others you work with. You can do the micro credential by yourself, or each person in a team can enrol for their own case study and then support each other during the year.

What are the dates for workshops and 1:1 support sessions?

- The four workshops in 2023 are: 05 April, 17 May, 28 June and 09 August. They are all 12.00-1.30pm

- You chose the dates/times for your two 1:1 sessions. These will be Wednesdays, each one within a time window. The sessions are 20 minutes, and 30 minutes.

How much time is involved in completing the micro credential?

- This is an individual matter; some people suggest a couple of hours a week. But you know you, how you study, and what works best in your life.
- It is usually best to complete it by September.
- You can submit your reflections and feedback earlier if that works best for you.

What do I have to do to achieve the micro credential?

- Submit a case study that is guided by the tasks outlined online.
- There are four tasks.
- One task is to get feedback (a form is provided) from two people. 1) a participant in your case study and 2) one other person who knows enough about your work to complete the questions.

Contact

associate@inspiringcommunities.org.nz if you need help getting started.

We look forward to getting to know you and appreciating your CLD mahi.