Our Big Book of Funding Ideas

8 Questions (repeated 3 times around the room)

You decide which questions you would like to contribute to.

Every 10 minutes we will signal you to find another conversation. (You don't have to move if you don't want to.)

Make your notes so that someone who wasn't in the conversation has ALL the details.

- 1 How might we clearly articulate the value of community development initiatives to potential funders and supporters?
- 2 How might we encourage for-profit businesses to partner with us and financially support community development initiatives?
- 3 How might we encourage donations from individuals who are passionate about community development?
- 4 How might we develop stronger relationships with existing funders and supporters so they continue to fund us for the long term?
- 5 How might we make some of our community development initiatives self-funding, while at the same time ensuring accessibility?
- 6 How might we reduce our reliance on grants and contracts and think creatively about how we are funded?
- 7 How might we better collaborate on initiatives so that funding goes further?
- 8 How might we better support individuals and organisations to upskill around funding so they are better equipped to access what they need?
